

CITY OF LODI

COUNCIL COMMUNICATION

AGENDA TITLE: Public Meeting To Consider A Revised Business Tax Ordinance

MEETING DATE: January 4, 1995

PREPARED BY: Finance Director

RECOMMENDATION: That the City Council conduct a Public Meeting to consider the following recommendations set for a Public Hearing on February 15, 1995:

- a. To adopt Chapter 3.01 of the Municipal Ordinance titled "Business Tax Certification"; and, to amend Chapter 9.16.010B of the Municipal Ordinance to define "solicitor". (Exhibit A)
- b. To delete Chapter 5.04 of the Municipal Ordinance titled: "Businesses Licenses Generally". (Exhibit B)
- c. To adopt the attached Resolution setting the tax rates by business classification as provided under Chapter 3.01, Article II of the new Municipal Ordinance and to waive penalties for late payments under Chapter 5.04 of the old Municipal Code. (Exhibit C)

BACKGROUND: At a special Council meeting on December 13, 1994, the City Council directed staff to return with a revised business tax ordinance and tax rates by January 1995; and, further directed staff to delay the collection of business license taxes due January 1, 1995.

Financing services and new facilities

The City Council will consider a number of requests to expand City services and to construct new public facilities in the current fiscal year and fiscal year 1995-96. This includes the implementation of an economic development plan to revitalize downtown, the beautification of Cherokee Lane, additional code enforcement for East side residential areas, increasing the number of police officers, adding additional fire services and facilities, park improvements, construction of a performing arts center and construction of a recreation center.

The City's current funding levels will not support any significant increases in services or provide funds to finance major capital projects. Over the last three years the City has balanced the annual budget by cutting services by imposing a hire freeze, cutting 32 staff positions and deferring maintenance programs. Current revenues will allow for some growth in services but will not provide the funds necessary for financing significant changes in services or major capital projects.

Alternative funding sources

The City has several funding sources which could be used to finance new services and capital projects. The following is a list of possible revenue sources that could be used to raise additional revenues. This is not a comprehensive list of all possible revenues but is a list of revenues which do not require a two thirds vote of the general public to be enacted by the City Council.

Assessment Districts

The City has not used assessment districts to finance public improvements or capital maintenance to any extent over the last 20 years. The last assessment district formed by the City was in 1984 to finance a downtown beautification project. Assessment districts could be used more extensively to finance maintenance programs, capital projects and to a limited extent, operating programs. The advantage of an assessment district is that the cost of a project or service is paid for by the beneficiary and not the public from general fund revenues. Assessment districts are used extensively by cities with aggressive growth policies. Assessment districts may require a vote of the benefit group or may be subject to a majority protest.

Redevelopment Agency

The City does not have a redevelopment agency. A redevelopment agency can provide significant revenues to finance economic development and abate blight; however, it requires at least 5 years before the revenues increase to a level necessary to make a significant impact on city services. In addition, start up costs can be high. The City should seriously consider forming a redevelopment agency to finance economic development and to abate blight; however, this is a long term solution to financing services and capital projects.

Increased fees

The City has increased user charges and service fees over the last 3 to 5 years to pay for the cost of existing services and to finance the impact of growth on public facilities. Under current City Council policy, fees will continue to be adjusted to match changes in the cost of services. As such, fees will not provide additional funds for general municipal purposes but will continue to ensure that these services do not require added subsidies from the general fund. The following is a list of fees which have increased over the last five years.

- Electric Rates
- Sewer Rates
- Garbage Rates
- Fees for recreation programs
- Fees for park and facility use
- Other miscellaneous fees for building inspection, public safety, finance and administration
- Impact fees for capital facilities

Added tax revenues

The instability of tax revenues over the last three years has been a major source of the City's difficulty in balancing the annual budget. The shift of the $1.1 million in property taxes to the State resulted in significant cuts in the City's staffing and services.

Sales taxes have grown with the economy for several years and should continue to grow at a rate which reflects the City's plans to promote economic development. San Joaquin County has been benefiting from a shift in population and business from the large metropolitan areas to less expensive and less congested Valley communities. Accordingly, sales taxes have grown, jobs have increased and business has prospered. The City anticipates that sales taxes will continue to grow and provide the revenues necessary to finance growth of existing services over the next two to five years. However, it is important to remember that sales taxes are not a stable source of revenue and are subject to the ups and downs of the economy.

There are two tax sources which could have an immediate impact on City revenues and could be used to finance new services and capital facilities, a utility user's tax and the business license tax. These are relatively stable tax sources and could be adopted by the City Council without a public vote for general fund purposes.

The utility user's tax is considered to be one of the most equitable tax sources for general fund purposes. It is a broad based tax which is relatively stable. The utility user's tax is paid by the public for use of public utilities, i.e. water, sewer, electric, telephone, cable television, garbage, etc. With a broad tax base (number of utility customers versus number of businesses) the utility user's tax rate can raise more revenue than the business license with a similar tax rate. As such, the utility user's tax can be spread over a larger population than the business license tax and be a lesser burden to each taxpayer. However, the utility user's tax has been a very unpopular tax in many cities where it has been adopted and for this reason is not being considered at this time.

The current Business License Tax has been in effect since 1948 and has not been changed since first approved by the City Council. The current tax is a flat rate tax based on the number of employees. The revenue from the business license tax has increased since 1948 from $15,000 per year to $90,000 per year as the number of employees and businesses in Lodi have grown; but it has not kept pace with inflation. Accordingly, the revenues from the business license tax contribute less and less each year to the funds used for general municipal purposes. In addition, there have been a number of legislative changes over the last 46 years which have not been incorporated into the City's current ordinance which should be corrected at this time.

Public/Private partnerships

For many years, the City has been fortunate to receive a high level support from the private sector in financing public projects, particularly for park expansion and improvements and for the construction of cultural facilities. Private donations have allowed Lodi to provide public facilities and purchase equipment which might not otherwise have been purchased or constructed, i.e., donations by individuals and service clubs to finance park expansion and improvements, donations by the Hutchins Street Square Foundation to finance renovation and expansion of Hutchins Street Square, and donations by the business community to purchase vehicles and equipment for police services.

The City should continue to nurture and support private participation in community projects and take pride in the fact that there are so many citizens willing to donate their funds and time to important public projects. However, the private sector is not a normal source of funding for operating and maintaining public facilities. Once the private sector has funded the construction of a public facility, it becomes the public sector's responsibility to fund the long term cost of operating and maintaining this facility.

BUSINESS LICENSE TAX

In the last year the City has had two consultants recommend that the City revise the business license tax ordinance (Ralph Anderson & Associates and Friedman, Tung, and Bottomley). Their recommendation was made for several reasons and include:

- To finance the public share of downtown revitalization and Cherokee Lane Beautification at $4.8 million and $138,000 per year in annual maintenance costs
- The current ordinance and tax rates have not been changed since 1948.
- The business tax provides the City with .5% of the total general fund revenue compared to the statewide average of 5.8%.
- The tax rate is based on number of employees and is regressive.
- The current ordinance places an unfair tax burden on labor intensive businesses
- Similar types of business are treated differently
- Not all businesses are subject to the tax

In December 1993, the City reviewed a proposal by Ralph Anderson & Associates to change the City's business license ordinance and tax structure. Their recommendation included the following changes:

- That the City adopt a business classification system based on the standard industrial codes and group similar businesses for taxing purposes into three business classes based on profitability.
- That the City impose taxes based on "gross receipts" ranging from $.20 to $.90 per $1,000 of gross receipts.

Review Process

Beginning in February 1994, the City staff and the Chamber of Commerce held a number of public meetings with citizens, the Chamber of Commerce and the business community to review the tax rates proposed by Ralph Anderson & Associates. In March, the Chamber of Commerce conducted a random survey of its' membership to determine whether there was support for a change in the business license tax or not.

The survey found that the majority of the members would support an increase in the business license tax and that a flat rate tax was favored by 61%, gross receipts was favored by 27%, no fee increase was favored by 10% and a combination of gross receipts and flat rate was favored by 2%.

Based on this information the City Council directed staff to develop alternative tax rates for review by the Chamber of Commerce, the public and the City Council. Staff made adjustments to the recommendation by Ralph Anderson & Associates and developed a flat rate tax based on gross receipts and square feet of space occupied. Prior to the presentation of the new tax rates, the City Council decided to defer any decision on the business license tax until after the need for new taxes is apparent. Table 1 shows optional tax rates recommended by staff. Table 2 shows the estimated revenues that should be received if these rates are approved.

Estimated Revenues

The estimated revenues shown in Table 2 range from $600,000 to $886,000. It must be noted that these estimates are based on a limited source of information available to the City on which to estimate revenues. These estimates are a best guess and may be materially different if the tax is approved and revenues collected.

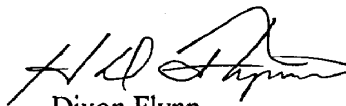

Late Penalties

Under Chapter 5.04.170 of the Municipal Code, the Finance Director is required to add a penalty of 10% of the business tax due for each month the tax is delinquent. At the December 13, 1994 Council Meeting, the Council directed staff to delay collection of the business tax for 1995 until a decision is made on changing the tax rates. Accordingly, the staff recommends that the City waive penalties for taxes due January 1, 1995.

ARTICLE V. ADMINISTRATION

SECTION 3.01.501. CERTIFICATION OF RECORDS

A. CONCLUSIVENESS OF STATEMENTS. No statement required by the provisions of this chapter shall be conclusive as to the matters set forth therein, nor shall the filing of such statements preclude the City from collection by appropriate action such sums as are actually due and payable pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. Such statements and each of the several items therein contained shall be subject to certification by the Finance Director, the deputies of the Finance Director, or authorized employees or representatives of the City, who are hereby authorized to examine such books and records of any certificate holder or applicant for a business tax certificate as may be necessary in their judgment to verify or ascertain the amount of the business tax due.

B. RECORD RETENTION. All persons subject to the provisions of this chapter shall keep complete records of all business transactions and shall retain such records for examination by the Finance Director, the deputies of the Finance Director, or authorized employees or representatives of the City, and maintain them for a period of at least three years from the annual due date of the federal tax return or the City business tax return, whichever time period is greater. Records which shall be maintained for audit purposes shall include State and Federal income tax returns, schedules and records included in such returns, and any and all work papers used to prepare such returns.

Interest shall continue to accrue on the additional tax amount until such amount is paid in full. A mistake made in stating the amount of the business tax shall not, in any case, prevent or prejudice the Finance Director from collecting what is actually due from any person or entity carrying on a trade, calling, profession, or occupation subject to a business tax under this chapter.

E. DETERMINATION OF TAX AMOUNTS DUE. If any person subject to the tax imposed by this chapter fails to submit information required, or if the Finance Director is not satisfied with records and statements filed, the Finance Director shall determine the amount of the business tax due from such person by means of such information as may be obtainable and shall mail a notice of the amount so assessed by serving it personally or by depositing it in the United States Post Office at Lodi, California, postage prepaid, addressed to the person at their last-known address.

B. The disclosure of information to, or the examination of records by, Federal or State officials, or the tax officials of another city or county, if the reciprocal arrangement exists, or to a grand jury or court of law upon a subpoena;

E. The disclosure of the names and business address of persons to whom business tax certificates have been issued and the general type and nature of their business;

F. The disclosure, by way of public meeting or otherwise, of such information as may be necessary to the City Council in order to permit the City Council to be fully advised as to the facts if a taxpayer files a claim for the refund of business taxes, or submits an offer of compromise with regard to a claim asserted against them by the City for business taxes, or when acting upon any other similar matter; and

The conviction of any person for transacting any business without a certificate shall not excuse or exempt such person from payment of any license due or unpaid at the time of such conviction and nothing herein shall prevent a criminal prosecution for any violation of the provisions of this Chapter.

SECTION 3.01.505. DELINQUENCIES AND PENALTIES

For failure to pay the business tax required by the provisions of this chapter prior to the delinquency date, the Finance Director shall add a penalty of Ten and no/100ths ($10.00) or ten percent (10%) of the business tax, whichever is the greater, on the first day of each month after the delinquency thereof; provided, however, the total amount of such penalty to be added in no event shall exceed one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of the business tax due.

SECTION 3.01.508. REMEDIES CUMULATIVE.

All remedies prescribed by the provisions of this chapter shall be cumulative, and the use of one or more remedies by the City shall not bar the use of any other remedy for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this chapter.
